“It is highly recommended to everyone who wants to professionally pursue video editing.”

A woman with long brown hair, wearing a red off-the-shoulder dress and a pearl necklace, is sitting at a white table. She has an expressive, open-mouthed look. On the table in front of her are several bottles of beauty products. The background is a bright green screen. The studio is dimly lit, with professional lighting equipment visible, including a large softbox light on a stand to the right and a boom light hanging from the ceiling. The floor is dark, and there are some cardboard boxes in the foreground.
